This is the second book I have read by George Dawes Green and boy, am I glad I was introduced to his works. In Ravens two grifters on their way to Florida, when stopping at a convince store, find out that a local family has just won 380 million dollars in the state Jackpot. Shaw, one of the grifters, decides that he and his friend are going to get in on the money. They find the family and RAVENS - George Dawes Green | AustCrimeFiction RAVENS - George Dawes Green Review Written By: Karen Chisholm, Friday, June 4, 2010. RAVENS has a great idea for a plot - two drifters, on the way to somewhere else, overhear a story about a local lottery win and they quickly hatch a plan to take advantage. Take the household captive and threaten everybody they hold dear until the money is handed over. There is a blurring of norms going on in

George Dawes Green's Ravens (Grand Central Publishing, 2010), is good for a very short trip. Short flight down, an overnight with just an hour or so in your hotel, short flight back. Not only is it a quick read, but it's best for that trip when you have a lot to do--and just need a lightweight story. Fun, but not a lot of required attention.
